Professional DEVELOPMENT

The Professional Development programs provide faculty and staff comprehensive teaching and learning practices with:

- * online and hybrid materials
- * real- and any-time progressive learning activities
- * assessment strategies

Getting Results

A Professional Development Course for Community College Educators

"iStream provides a great way for us to offer training and professional development materials to staff and faculty, most particularly adjunct faculty. In our area, commuting times for training can be a real problem. iStream is a key part of our integrated program of professional development aimed at overcoming this difficulty."

Sue Subocz, Associate Vice President of Academic Affairs, College of Southern Maryland
