Sinclair Community College is a recipient of the Walmart Brighter Futures 2.0 Project Grant led by the League for Innovation in the Community College.

As a part of this project, Sinclair Community College will develop a Career Pathway and Coaching Model to offer low-income, low-skilled individuals comprehensive support and training for those desiring fast-track non-credit and credit-bearing credentials leading to middle skill jobs (those not requiring a Bachelor's degree). Sinclair will leverage significant internal resources as well as resources from its extensive network of businesses, business associations, and public economic and workforce development agencies. This program will fill a current void of support and training for students who need immediate or higher-paying jobs best grasped through short-term credentials, short-term credit and non-credit certifications.

The successful holistic case management coaching services provided to the previous Walmart Brighter Futures 1.0 participants will be used as the first step in Sinclair's training and job placement success.

The success of the Walmart Brighter Futures 2.0 Project is also determined by the number of individuals who not only receive the case management coaching services but also by tracking those who've completed training and have successfully gained employment. We will periodically touch base via phone or email. We're asking our students to participate in our outreach efforts in order to track your progress and the efficacy of this program. Thank you for your participation!
